PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Montana Small Business Development Center (SBDC) Network is a partnership between the Montana Department of Commerce, the U.S. Small Business Administration, regional and local economic development organizations and institutions of higher education.

The SBDC Lead Center is located at the Department of Commerce and supports ten centers around the state, and provides free one-on-one, confidential consulting and low-cost training programs to aspiring and existing small businesses. The SBDC network has been providing these services to Montana's small business community since 1989.

The Montana SBDC program helps small businesses invest in their future by staying current on small business trends. As we partner with both public and private organizations interested in helping small businesses, we're able to leverage our resources and gain economies of scale that extend our outreach to everyone who wants to start, own and operate a successful small business.
